Event Overview

Hacktoberfest Marathon is as the name speaks for itself, an open source festival where techies come along and celebrate the spirit of open source. Designed with beginner friendly tracks for project and self development, and for people who are already chained to the open source, it's a carnival full of amazing projects developed by Community Members. It's a journey of virtual sessions blended in are amazing technologies topped with open source knowledge.

Motive of the event

1. Open source can be intimidating for beginners, hence we've carefully designed tracks for beginners to learn and make their own projects.
2. We are inviting personal projects from the community members to provide easy projects for everyone to start their first contribution, and giving the projects an exposure and recognition.
